

Flowchart of Free fall program

by: Laura Triana

The program uses the finite difference method to calculate the position and velocity of an object in free fall under the influence of gravity. The position and velocity values obtained numerically are compared with the theoretical values obtained from the equations of motion.

